Brunei Darussalam will be the host of the ASEAN Centre for Climate Change, endorsed by other AMS during 17th ASEAN Ministerial Meeting on the Environment held in August 2023. Other than that, their programmes on climate action are mostly arranged on the Brunei Darussalam National Climate Change Policy (BDNCCP), outlining strategies, action plans, performance indicator (KPI), milestones and their appropriate monitoring mechanisms for climate mitigation and adaptation.

There are only two main energy sources in TPES, which crude oil remain as the domain. However, the amount of TPES has reduced gradually since 2006, then spiked again in 2010 and 2011. Brunei's production was reported at 98,178 barrels of oil per day in 2021. This record is down from the previous record of 100,500 barrels of oil per day in 2020.
