Am using these for battery fairy lights - just a small set of led lights. A charge lasts for about 5-6 hours... seems utterly pathetic given the lights are so tiny. If they don't work well in other things then I'm going to send them back as being ineffective. I've bought 5 packets!

these are great, have been using rechargeable batteries for a while you, helpful to have a little extra to have on hand for when charging etc. recently purchased a toy with batteries included. they lasted only the day. these rechargeable ones lasted so much longer, definitely worth the extra spend in the long run

It is hard to assess these batteries which Ocado asked me to review because they last a comparatively long time. It also depends on what they are used for as to the rate of drain. I have found them to be no better or no worse than others I have used, hence the rating.

I got a pack of these to review and so I thought I'd buy a charging unit as otherwise they would be a bit redundant. Such a cheaper way of using batteries and they last for a very long time. Total convert.

I received these to review and had to pass them on to someone with a charger for those. As they're new they held the charge nicely, but nothing special compared to cheaper brands, or at least not as obvious as with normal batteries. Their quality might show after 20-30 recharges. Hopes are high that they last more charges than others, which would help to justify the higher price.
