Northrop grumman product list

Northrop Grumman's Aerospace Products organization offers a broad set of mature, proven and affordable products, services and capabilities for new and existing customers in the government, civil and commercial markets.

This organization was created to improve partnerships and build mature, lasting business relationships with our customers. Streamlining our business policies and procedures facilitates the adoption of our products into the solutions our customers need.

Each business venture maintains and grows products, technologies and competencies for the global commercial and defense marketplace. The Business Ventures are discretely managed to maintain operational freedom, creativity, ingenuity, low costs and rapid response.

Northrop Grumman's Missile Products business unit is a leading U.S. provider of solid rocket propulsion for national security and defense, providing stages for weapons systems such as air-launched missiles, interceptors, submarine-launched systems, and hypersonics missile systems.

With decades of producing small, medium and large caliber ammunition, Northrop Grumman continuously refines its operations, maintenance and modernization efforts to support the warfighter.
