

Photovoltaic pv systems antananarivo

Through this new partnership, AXIAN University, the AXIAN Group's corporate university, and the Deutsche Gesellschaft F r Internationale Zusammenarbeit (GIZ) are pledging sustained efforts to develop skills that are important to Madagascar's solar-energy sector.

As part of its project PERER, which promotes electrification through renewable energy, the Germano-Malagasy Cooperative, managed by GIZ, has solicited AXIAN University's expertise to tutor teachers and trainers from Madagascar's Ministry of Education and Professional Training (MEPT) on photovoltaic (PV) systems.

Due to Madagascar's energy sector's demand, the PERER project aims to offer its beneficiaries better returns for investing in electrification through renewable energy. To this end, the GIZ is offering trainings to all educational establishments on the installation and maintenance of photovoltaic (PV) systems.

This partnership also allows for the implementation of activities that have already been agreed upon between GIZ PERER and its parent ministry, Madagascar's Ministry of Energy and Hydrocarbons (MEH), that are geared towards aligning professional training and education with the Malagasy energy industry's skills demands.

“This partnership with the GIZ shines a commending light on AXIAN University's educators. We are delighted and honoured to be working towards the upskilling of educators and, down the line, of the young people who will arrive on the jobs market.” Caroline Meurisse, Director of AXIAN University.

AXIAN is an engaged partner in the socio-economic growth of the countries where it operates. With over 5,000 daring and passionate staff, the group systematically ensures that its products and services have a positive and sustainable impact on the day-to-day lives of millions of Africans.

The AXIAN Group is a signatory of the United Nations' Global Compact initiative and committed to the integration of its 10 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) into group strategy, policies and operations.

The GIZ's National headquarters has been in Antananarivo for over 35 years.
