Starting this November, the rebate amount varies depending on your battery's size and the market price of Peak Demand Reduction Certificates (PRCs). Estimates suggest the rebate could range from $1,300 to $3,800*. This rebate applies to your first battery purchase, provided you have or are installing a solar system, which also qualifies for its own rebate.

Our solar specialists are ready to assist you in selecting the right battery size tailored to your requirements. Whether through a phone consultation, a home visit, or a visit to our Allambie Heights showroom, we provide obligation-free advice to ensure you don't miss out on the potential of the rebate. Solarpro, the original Northern Beaches solar company, has been at the forefront of home battery installations since their inception.

Explore our range of batteries firsthand at our Allambie Heights showroom. Witness how these solutions can benefit your home and learn more about maximizing your investment with Solarpro.
